

A baby elephant is tied to a tree...

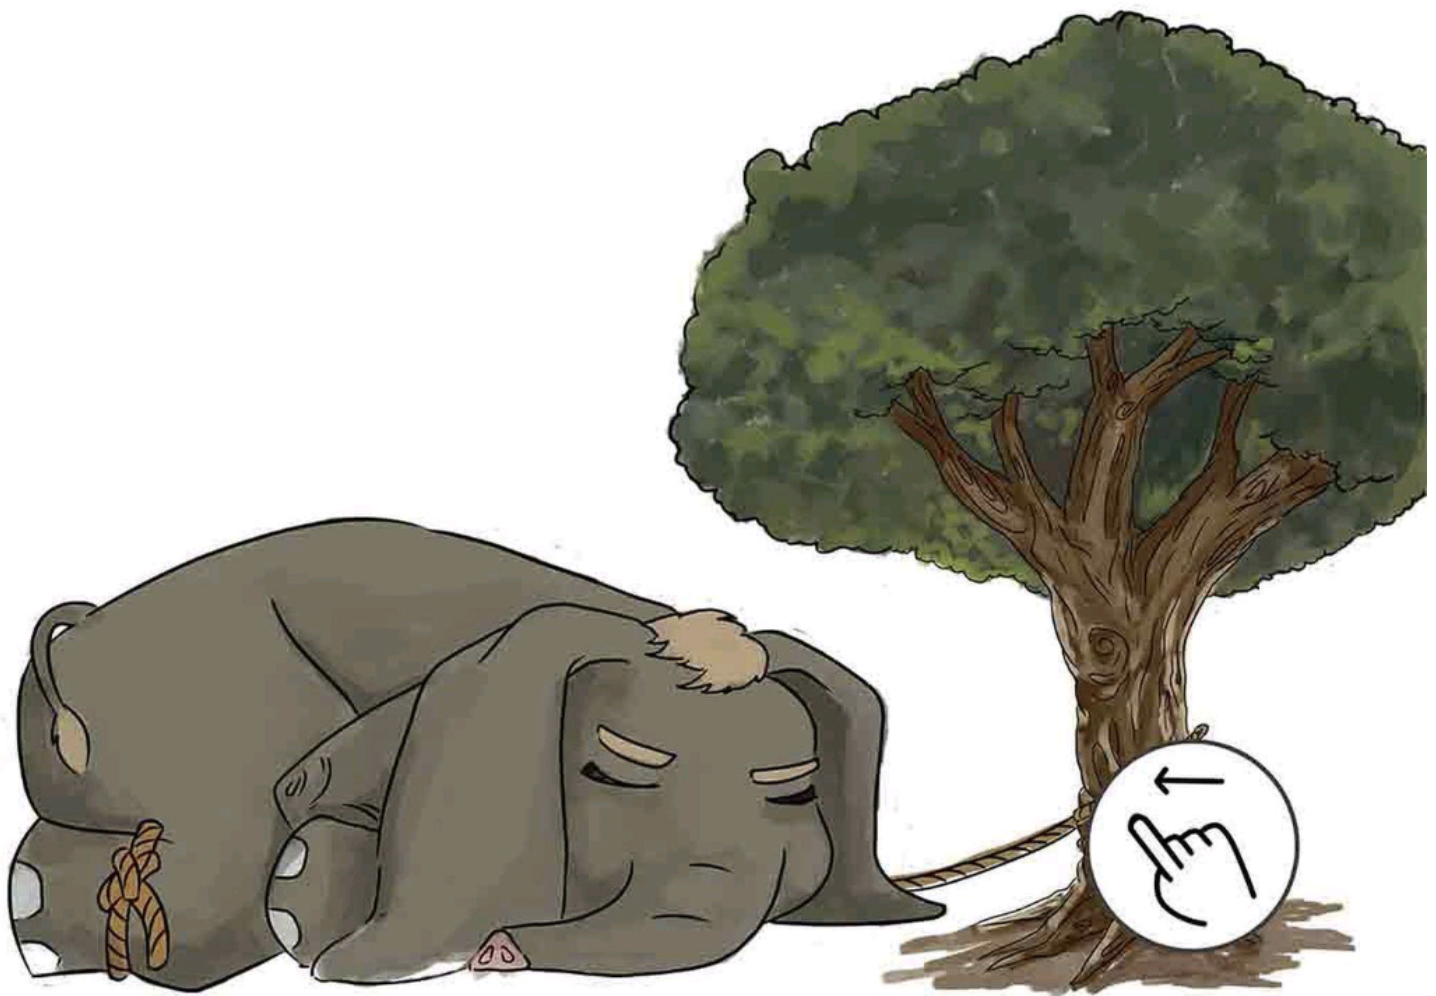

Because it's a baby, it doesn't have the strength to break free from the chain.

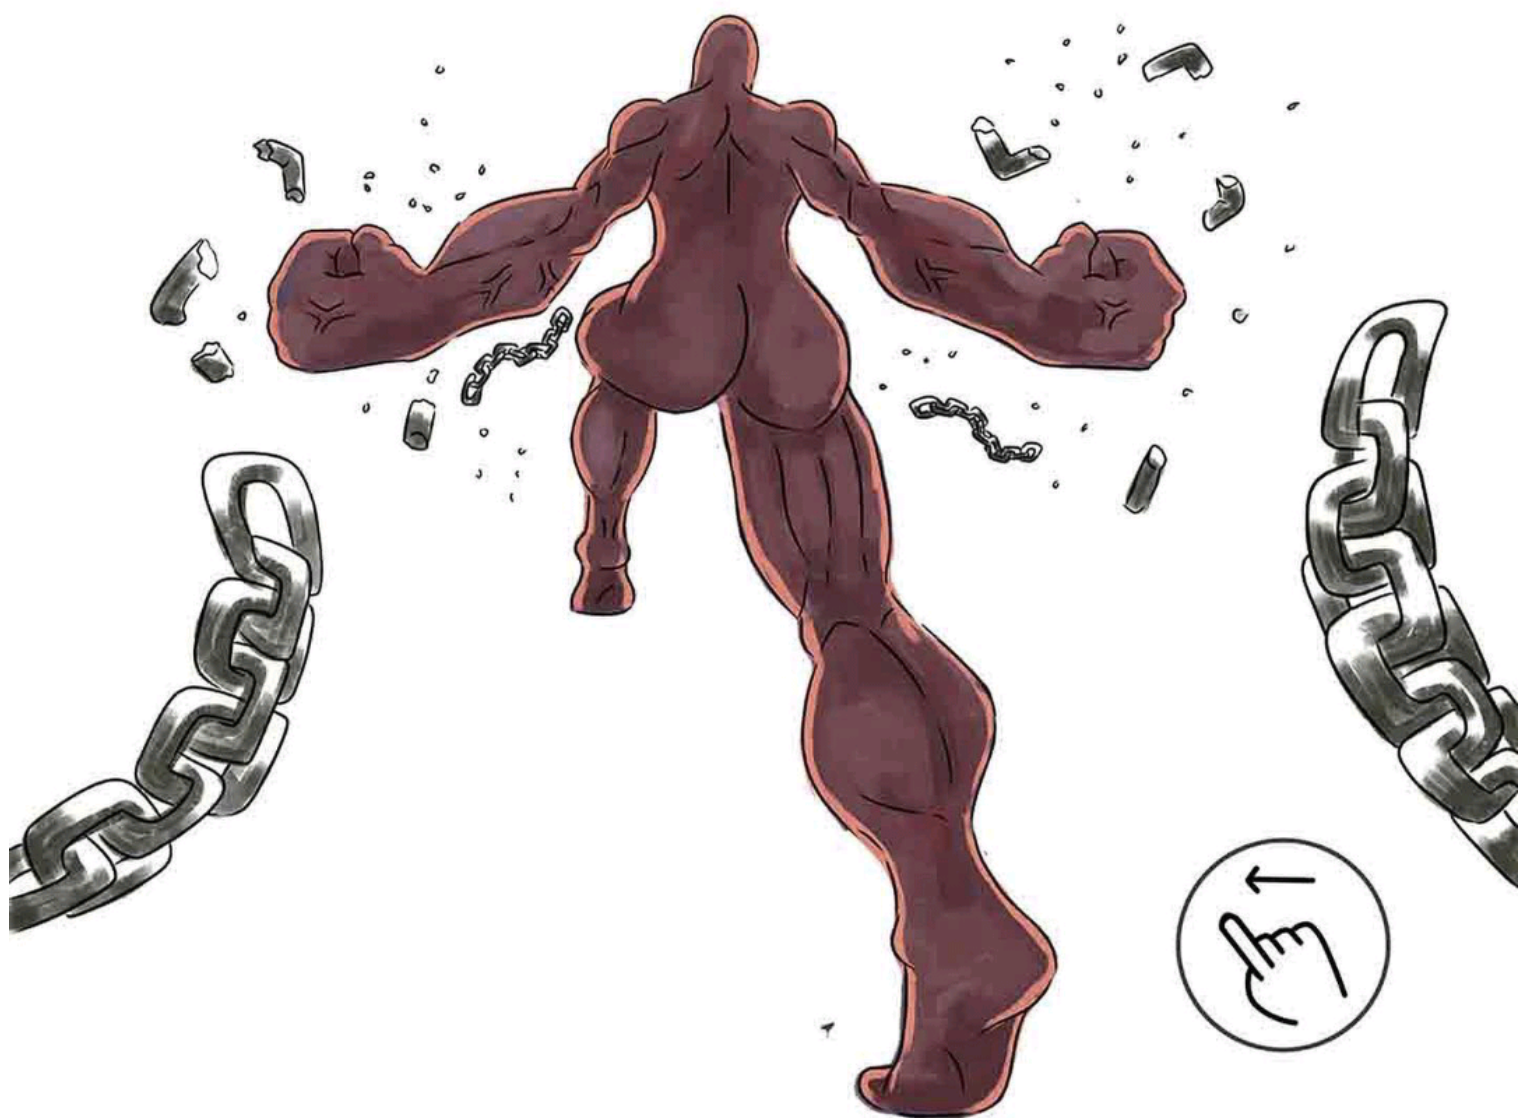

As it grows older and stronger.
It could easily break free of its prison.
But it never does.

Its mind is still stuck in the past,
so it doesn't make any effort
to change its future.

Whilst this story is about an elephant.
Humans are exactly the same.
Except for one small difference.
We CAN break free from our false prison and the limitation created by the past...

So don't be like the poor baby elephant and let your past dictate your future.

Drop a 100 you reached this last slide.
This showed you're part of the 0.01%
that finishes what they start.

