

HTML Features You Don't Know

<abbr>

The <abbr> element is an abbreviation elements used to describe acronyms.

```
<abbr title="HyperText Markup Language">
  HTML
</abbr>
```

HTML

Hypertext Markup Language

The  element marks or highlights specific text.

```

  Check out www.codecrumbs.com

```

Checkout www.codecrumbs.com

contenteditable

The contenteditable attribute allows the user to edit the content on the frontend if set to true.

```

  Add your own content here

```

Add your own content here |

download

The download attribute downloads a file when clicking the link. You can also add a file title.

```

```

Logo.svg

spellcheck

The spellcheck attribute checks if an element should have its spelling and grammar checked or not

```

  Add your own cotnent here

```

Add your own cotnent here |

accesskey

The accesskey attribute specifies a shortcut key to activate/focus an element.

- Edge, Chrome, Safari: [ALT] + accesskey
- Firefox: [ALT] [SHIFT] + accesskey

```

```

Add to Favourites

How many do you know?

Comment [Your number/6]

@thecodecrumbs
www.codecrumbs.com

Leave a like

Save for later

